Using Success Criteria to Monitor Your Progress

In order to become an assessment-capable visible learner, you need to be able to self-assess your learning. Learning intentions and success criteria for a lesson are tools you can use to self-assess. Today, we are going to use a self-assessment tool to help you track your progress using the lesson's success criteria. We will continue to use this tool to self-assess your progress throughout the school year.

Self-Assessing Your Progress Using Success Criteria

Date: _____

Directions: Capture the success criteria for the learning intention provided by your teacher in the boxes below. Prior to the end of the lesson, self-assess your progress by determining your performance level for each success criterion below.

	I'm a pro and can teach others.	I'm able to do this on my own.	I'm still practicing but almost there.	I need more help.
SUCCESS CRITERIA 1:
Evidence to support current performance level:
My next learning steps:
SUCCESS CRITERIA 2:
Evidence to support current performance level:
My next learning steps:

	I'm a pro and can teach others.	I'm able to do this on my own.	I'm still practicing but almost there.	I need more help.
SUCCESS CRITERIA 3:
Evidence to support current performance level:
My next learning steps:
SUCCESS CRITERIA 4:
Evidence to support current performance level:
My next learning steps:				