

How do you know if you are growing in your learning and making progress?

Knowing when you are improving and getting better at what you are learning is a key step to becoming an assessment-capable visible learner.

A way you can begin to do that is by making sure you know the learning intentions and success criteria for a lesson. Then you can keep track of how you are doing by using the success criteria as a guide.

Today you are going to use a self-assessment tool to help you learn how to keep track of your progress.

Self-Assessing Your Progress Using Success Criteria

Date: _____

Directions: Write the success criteria for the learning intention in the box provided. Then check the box that matches your level of learning and answer the questions that follow.

		My Level of Learning
Success Criterion 1		I'm a pro and can teach someone else.	I'm able to do this on my own.	I'm still practicing but almost there.	I need more help.
1

What proof or evidence can you use to show the level of learning you chose?

What is your next learning step so you can become a pro and teach someone else?

My Level of Learning

Success Criterion 2

I'm a pro and can teach someone else.

I'm able to do this on my own.

I'm still practicing but almost there.

I need more help.

2

What proof or evidence can you use to show the level of learning you chose?

What is your next learning step so you can become a pro and teach someone else?

My Level of Learning

Success Criterion 3

I'm a pro and can teach someone else.

I'm able to do this on my own.

I'm still practicing but almost there.

I need more help.

3

What proof or evidence can you use to show the level of learning you chose?

What is your next learning step so you can become a pro and teach someone else?